

Mid-Year Conversion Benefits

When looking to change finance systems, the logical course of action would be to change systems to coincide with your new financial year. There are a number of reasons why this might not be the best time to switch. So much so, more and more academies are now looking at the option of switching systems mid-year, so that they can achieve the following benefits:

Staff Availability

Changing your system mid-year will leave you safe in the knowledge that the staff members required will be available during implementation, allowing for a smooth transition and avoiding the risk of unnecessary delays due to lack of internal resource.

Uninterrupted Year-End

Changing your finance system in September will coincide with your year-end. Removing the responsibility of implementing a new finance system at this time, will relieve any stress you may have during this period, and also give you the flexibility to plan implementation around your diary, rather than the other way round.

No Overlap With Year-End Audit

When implementing mid-year, you remove the overlap between learning a new system whilst tending to auditor requests.

Improve Year-End Sooner Rather Than Later

Mid-year implementation enables you to use your new system throughout the year and as year-end approaches, undergo an efficient and smooth year-end process. PS Financials will automatically generate all of your reports and improve year-end efficiencies – saving you time and effort.
